Pastor's Message

The Other-Worldly, Awe-Inspiring Majesty of the Divine Service - vs- Rock Concert Worship

Christmas is coming. What gifts to get who is inevitably running through our minds. I read an article that discussed the style of Christian worship that parents find appeals most to their children. I was interested almost immediately because it seems almost everyone today has adopted the position that we must "simplify" or "minimize" the Divine Service in order to make it appeal to children (oddly, it's not the children saying this, almost across the board it's those of the Baby-Boomer generation that push for the "contemporary" service!) Puppet Mass, Clown Communion, modern liturgical dance, et al. (Google them!) all came from people over 50 and not from actual children. Surprisingly, or maybe not, the article concluded that worship services with superficial elements meant to appeal to children were NOT the ones that drew children in and formed them the most. Instead, the worship services that best grabbed children's attention and solicited their participation were the ones with "all the bells and whistles". Here are some of the things that parents mentioned as appealing to their children: beautiful music, chant, incense, stained glass that's aesthetically beautiful and easy to understand, beautiful art.

Notice anything absent from the list? -- "Children's Church" and the "cry room".

The Church over the past 40 years has spent so much time and effort trying to make a worship space that appeals to children by making it appear like their home or school--giving them a place apart where they can go and do their "kid thing". But I ask, does this giving children a place "over there, off to the side" not betray the very words of Jesus when he commands, "Let the little children come unto me and do not hinder them."?

First, we are mistaken if we believe we need to make children welcome in the Church. Simply by virtue of the fact that the Head of the Church called children to Himself, they ARE welcome. If people are of the opinion that the Worship Service is no place for children, then they are in obstinate defiance to the Lord Jesus Himself and stand against Him, and they therefore need to recant and repent (period) In fact, to our Father we are all children, and we are all equally welcomed and desired by our God in worship. If you think children are unable to give worship because of their age or cognition abilities then you are mistaken, for does not the Holy Spirit Himself intercede for us with groanings too deep for words? Indeed he does!

Secondly, we aren't really supposed to feel exactly "at home" while giving our worship, at least not in the sense that we feel comfortable behaving at worship in the way that we do at home. For example, you wouldn't put your feet up on the pew in front of you, smoke your cigar, play on your phone, or carry on a conversation while the worship of the Holy Trinity is going on. During the Divine Service we have direct and immediate communion with God. Worship transports us into the heavenly realm to where we pray and glorify God with the Church on earth AND the Church in heaven--most poignantly at the Sanctus--Holy, Holy Holy. Stepping into worship should make us marvel and wonder at the mysteries of our God. When we enter those doors into the Nave we should immediately notice that our surroundings have changed and it should bring us to reverent attention and contemplation of the divine things of God; it should bring us to worship--if it doesn't there's either something wrong with the place or with us. Our children notice the difference too, and especially when it's reinforced by the quiet reverence of their parents and those around them. They may not respond to it in exactly the same way that we do, but a child senses the holiness and that sense is his adoration of his God.

In the same way, the celebration of the Holy Communion should only amplify that experience. Sacred music that makes a child look around and marvel at where it could possibly be coming from. The smell of burning oil from the candles and wax from the acolyte's torches accompanied by rising smoke; fire flanking the holy Altar on both sides; the shining threads woven into the pastor's vestments that catch the light at the Altar; the sun's morning rays illuminating the stained glass that tells the story of our Faith; bells that toll beckoning people to be mindful that something sacred is going on in here; the organist composing her worship to the Lord.

This is what Church should evoke for a child, and really for us all.

Churches are not meant to make us feel "at home", and the Altar of our God is not in any way like our dinner table, it is an exceedingly holy place and should be approached as such. The Worship Services of God's people are meant to elevate our senses beyond earthly temporal things, while giving us ears to hear and eyes to see the things of eternal importance. Children are smarter and much more aware than we give them credit for, and God speaks to them more than we probably believe. Children are naturally programmed to experience awe and wonder and their capacity to understand and respond to the sacred is much more developed than we often give them credit for in our day with our clown communions, cry rooms, rock-concert worship, and children's church (where children are actually taken away from the gathered assembly and Christ's Presence so that they'll never learn how to act and respond in worship!).

Children don't need another environment superficially geared toward their needs. They don't need to feel completely at home at worship in the sense that worship doesn't induce a different experience than home for them. What children need (now maybe more than ever) is a sense of the sacred--an awareness that what happens on Sunday morning is different than what happens anywhere else. Stepping into Christian worship should inspire in a child the sense of their heavenly home, not their earthly one. They need to see and believe that they are not the Church of tomorrow but the Church of right here and now.

Most of all what children need is to grow up with a clear sense of the sacred. In our society, where we are increasingly inundated by fallen humanity's sins, where even Christmas has been co-opted by the world's commercialism (the Beast's economy for all of you who come to Bible Study on Wednesdays), we need a place set apart that recalls the hope of eternity, that lifts our worship beyond the world around us to the wonder and glory and majesty of the Throne of heaven. To this place our children need to be taken and they need to grow up in, and be formed by it!

It may not always prevent the inevitable child's tantrum or even complete meltdown that calls for a few moments outside during the Divine Service, but bring them back if you can. Giving our children a knowledge of what it means to enter a place where Jesus Christ Himself is present --Body, Blood, Soul and Divinity --and the holy calm of awe and wonder that this brings about will plant a seed of reverence, adoration and devotion that will most certainly mature as they grow older. It is work, but it is a gift to your child that you will never once regret giving.

Your brother in Jesus,

Pastor Frye

A Note from the Church Council President

If I decorate my house perfectly with plaid bows, strands of twinkling lights, and shiny balls, but do not show love to my family, I'm just another decorator.

If I slave away in the kitchen, baking dozen of Christmas cookies, preparing gourmet meals, and arranging a beautifully adorned table at mealtime, but do not show love to my family, I'm just another cook.

If I work at the soup kitchen, carol in the nursing home and give all that I have to charity, but do not show love to my family, it profits me nothing.

If I trim the spruce with shimmering angels and crocheted snowflakes, attend a myriad of holiday parties and sing in the choir's cantata, but do not focus on those I love the most, I have missed the point.

... In other words,

Love stops the cooking to hug a child.

Love sets aside the decorating to kiss the spouse.

Love is kind, though harried and tired.

Love doesn't envy another's home that has coordinated Christmas china and table lines.

Love doesn't yell at the kids to get out of the way, but is thankful they are there to be in the way.

Love doesn't give only to those who are able to give in return but rejoices in giving to those who can't.

Love bears all things, believes all things, hopes all things, endures all things.

Love never fails.

Video games will break, pearl necklaces will be lost, golf clubs will rust.

But the give of love will endure.

Wishing you all the gift of love,

Judy Abernathy

Council President

Congregation Meeting 2018

The results for the New Council Members for 2019 are: Tommy Hedrick, Emma Human, Jay Human and Tonya Stone. Our Youth Representative will be Gabriel Frye. The budget passed unanimously.

CHRIST'S EVANGELICAL LUTHERAN CHURCH
ANNUAL CONGREGATIONAL MEETING
NOVEMBER 11, 2018

MINUTES OF MEETING

Call to Order: At the conclusion of the Sunday morning worship service on November 11, 2018, Judy Abernathy, as President of Church Council, called the annual congregational meeting to order.

Purpose of Meeting: The annual congregational meeting was held for the purpose of voting on the following matters:

1) Election of Church Council members for 2019

2) Approval of the 2019 budget for Christ's Evangelical Lutheran Church.

A copy of the ballot was distributed to the congregation for the election of Church Council members for 2019 and approval, or disapproval, of the 2019 budget, a copy of which is attached and made a part of these minutes. As shown on the attached copy of the ballot, the following individuals were presented to the congregation for election to the 2019 Church Council:

Tommy Hedrick, Emma Human, Jay Human, Bob Mahovsky, Tonya Stone are running for Council.

Gabriel Frye and Laura Olls are running for the youth representative position on Council.

Action by Congregation: While the ushers handed out the ballots, Judy discussed any differences between the 2018 and 2019 budgets. She then asked the congregation if they had any questions regarding any of the items on the ballot. There were none. As there were no questions, and a quorum being present, the congregation voted and the ballots were collected by the ushers.

Adjournment: As the results of the vote will be presented to the congregation at a later date, a motion was made by Gil Harris to adjourn. Nancy Olls seconded the motion. The meeting was adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,
Joseph L. Keefer, Council Secretary

Reception of petitions and communications and new business:

1) There is a request from Kathy Brown to install a wind chime tower in the Memorial Garden with the memorials that were given in Jack's name. A rack would be built to hold the wind chimes and they would be placed in the Memorial Garden. The exact location will be determined by Council.

2) A large bell (18" tall) has been donated to the church by Gordon Hacker. It has been given to CELC to be used as a dirge bell. A dirge bell is to be rung at funerals in commemoration of the dead. Council has several options as to where to place the dirge bell. Judy asks that Council members consider this before our next meeting. The discussion of the dirge bell was tabled until the next Council meeting

Report of the Pastor: Pastor Frye brought the following matters to Council for discussion and /or informational purposes.

1) Report of pastoral activities for the month of September, 2018. Pastor Frye presided over the Divine Service 4 times, attended 2 committee meetings, had 18 pastoral contacts, and presided over the funeral of Bill Cope. He held Wednesday night Bible Study 2 times and Sunday morning Bible Study 4 times. Pastor Frye took part in the community intercessory prayer hosted by Christ's Lutheran. He was one of 3 participants from Christ's Lutheran. The other 2 were Tim Cloninger and Claude Williams. Pastor Frye also dropped off supplies that were collected as a church family for hurricane victims at St. John's Lutheran in Statesville.

2) Pastor Frye asks that we remember the victims of Hurricane Matthew. For the next few months, there will be great need in the wake of this disaster. Donations will continue to be sought from members of CELC and taken to our local NALC distribution center in either Statesville or King's Mountain.

3) The Bishop Michael McDaniel Reformation Conference will be held at Gordon Conwell, Thursday, October 25, starting at 2:00 PM. The Reverend Dr. Paul Hinlicky will be speaking on Robert Jenson's contribution to the Reformation. This is open to both clergy and laity.

4) A letter has been written to our attorney, Michael Carpenter, summarizing the Council's sentiments from our last meeting when we went over Mr. Severen's lawyer's letter so that Michael can respond to Jack Severen's attorney.

Reports by General and Capital Fund Treasurers:

If this is unacceptable to Mr. Severens, we will once again request the full $23,000.00 to be refunded. Judy Ray made a motion to ask for $20,000.00 in 10 monthly installments. Pastor Frye seconded and the motion passed unanimously.
